A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT HURLEY

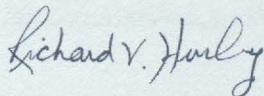

Dear UMW Graduates:

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you for the remarkable achievement that we celebrate today. You have met the challenge of rigorous and stimulating coursework, experienced one-on-one interaction with exceptional faculty members, and engaged in cutting-edge research or innovative project development. Among the outstanding graduates today are debate champions, emerging scientists, exemplary educators, talented actors and musicians, All-American athletes, and future leaders of business and industry. You have distinguished yourselves as people of honor and integrity, as globally connected citizens, and as individuals committed to helping others.

The bond shared by all gathered here is unique – the University of Mary Washington experience. It is the sum total of the lessons you have learned here and the relationships you have forged with faculty and fellow students alike. This experience gives you an edge that will serve you well for the rest of your lives. As proud graduates of UMW, you will find that you are prepared for meaningful careers and for lives of significance.

I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as president of this great University. On behalf of the entire University community, I congratulate you for reaching this impressive milestone, and I wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Richard V. Hurley
President

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER PAMELA E. BRIDGEWATER

Pamela E. Bridgewater retired from active duty in the U.S. Diplomatic Service in 2013 with the rank of career ambassador after 34 years of distinguished service.

She has served as U.S. ambassador in three countries under three different presidents: President Bill Clinton appointed her U.S. ambassador to the Republic of Benin; President George W. Bush named her U.S. ambassador to the Republic of Ghana; and President Barack Obama appointed her U.S. ambassador to Jamaica.

Among her extensive overseas tours, she became the first African-American woman to serve as consul general in Durban, South Africa, during the historic transition from apartheid to a nonracial government. Of her duty as the political officer assigned to cover Nelson Mandela and the African National Congress, a former U.S. ambassador to South Africa said, "Bridgewater established a degree of trust and confidence with Mr. Mandela and the ANC leadership that the U.S. had not previously enjoyed."

Her contributions to international affairs and public policy have resulted in numerous commendations, including two U.S. Presidential Meritorious Service Awards, the Charles Cobb Award for Trade Promotion, Department of State Superior Honor Awards, and the Secretary of State's Career Achievement Award.

The Fredericksburg native earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Virginia State University and a master's degree in political science from the University of Cincinnati. She completed coursework and advanced to candidacy for a doctoral degree from the American University School of International Service. She holds honorary doctor of laws degrees from the University of Cincinnati and Virginia State University and an honorary doctor of public service degree from Morgan State University.

The Class of 2015 wishes to express its appreciation to the many students who have remained on campus and assisted with the logistics of commencement week.

In the event that weather conditions preclude the distribution of diplomas during the commencement ceremony, graduates may pick up their diplomas in the William M. Anderson Center beginning one-half hour after the conclusion of the ceremony. Diplomas will be distributed for two hours. Diplomas will be released only to the graduate and not to family members or friends. Any graduate who is unable to pick up his or her diploma on the day of the ceremony will receive it by mail.

AWARDS

The names of award winners are kept confidential until they are announced at the commencement ceremony.

Student _____

COLGATE W. DARDEN JR. AWARD

This award was established in 1960 to honor Colgate W. Darden Jr., president of the University of Virginia from 1947 to 1959. It consists of a medal and a cash sum. It is awarded to the senior having the highest cumulative grade-point average. To be eligible for the Darden Award, a student must have earned at least 94 hours on which quality points may be computed.

Faculty _____

MARY W. PINSCHMIDT AWARD

This award was established in 1999 in honor of Professor Mary W. Pinschmidt, who throughout her academic career served as a role model and practitioner of exceptional liberal arts teaching and was a tireless contributor of service to her colleagues, her students, and the institution. The recipient of this award is selected by graduating seniors as the professor they feel they are most likely to remember as having the greatest impact on their lives. Recent recipients and their current faculty ranks include:

- 2011 Charles M. Murphy, Assistant Professor of Political Science
- 2012 Gary N. Richards, Associate Professor of English
- 2013 Daniel J. Hubbard, Associate Professor of Accounting and Management Information Systems
- 2014 Lynn Lewis, Professor of Biology

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OUTSTANDING YOUNG FACULTY MEMBER AWARD

This award, started in 1989, recognizes an outstanding member of our faculty who has been at the University from two to five years. Recent recipients and their current faculty ranks include:

- 2011 Krystyn R. Moon, Associate Professor of History
- 2012 Rosemary K. Jesionowski, Associate Professor of Art
- 2013 Melanie D. Szulczewski, Associate Professor of Environmental Science
- 2014 Chad Murphy, Assistant Professor of Political Science

GRELLET C. SIMPSON AWARD

This award, started in 1972 and made possible by an anonymous donor, is presented each year at graduation to a faculty member in recognition of excellence in undergraduate teaching. Recent recipients and their current faculty ranks include:

- 2011 Teresa A. Kennedy, Professor of English
- 2012 Dawn S. Bowen, Professor of Geography
- 2013 Joella Killian, Professor of Biology
- 2014 Mara N. Scanlon, Professor of English

RETIRING FACULTY

Faculty members who have served the University of Mary Washington for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of professor or associate professor are eligible to be considered for emeritus status. This honor is bestowed by action of the Board of Visitors.

Galen F. deGraff

Professor Emeritus of Management

Galen F. deGraff received an undergraduate degree from the McIntire School of Commerce at the University of Virginia. During the Vietnam War, he was a combat assault helicopter aircraft commander during the 1968 Tet Offensive with the 173 Assault Helicopter Company and on the staff of the 11th Combat Aviation Battalion. After earning his MBA from the U.Va.'s Darden Graduate Business School, he served as a senior division director and director of human resource development at Cadmus Communications in Richmond, Va. DeGraff then earned a Ph.D. in strategic management and international business at George Washington University. His doctoral dissertation was judged a finalist for best dissertation internationally by the Academy of International Business. At UMW, he has taught financial management, international business, and the strategic management capstone seminar. DeGraff's interests are strategy formulation, strategic management, international business, and the management of closely held firms.

Martha V. Fickett

Professor Emerita of Music

Martha V. Fickett joined the Mary Washington faculty in 1968. She holds a doctorate in music from The Catholic University of America, a master's degree in music from the University of Michigan, and a bachelor's degree in music from the University of Mary Washington. She is a Beethoven scholar and has taught courses on the history of music, Beethoven, Mozart, 20th-century music, and piano performance. Fickett is also a member of the American Musicological Society. Her record of service to the University is extensive, including a 30-year tenure as secretary to the Department of Music. She also has been a lecturer for the Great Lives speaker series. In 2007, Fickett received the J. Christopher Bill Outstanding Faculty Service Award.

Stephen W. Fuller

Professor Emeritus of Biology

Steve Fuller joined the Mary Washington faculty in 1972 after earning his Ph.D. from the University of New Hampshire. An expert on phytoplankton and the ecology of estuaries, Fuller taught the department's plant biology courses. In addition, he established Tropical Ecology, the department's first course with an international field trip component. Since 1991, he has been wowing students with spring break trips to destinations such as Puerto Rico, Costa Rica, Belize, and St. John. On top of his teaching contributions, Fuller served as chair of the Department of Biological Sciences for 12 years and as the University's president of the Faculty Senate. Additionally, he was president of the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society and maintains a position on its governing board. Fuller has also been active in the Virginia Academy of Science, and he has sponsored many student research projects throughout his career.

RETIRING FACULTY

Suzanne G. Houff

Professor Emerita of Education

During the 15 years Suzanne Houff has served as a Mary Washington faculty member, she has compiled a sterling record of teaching, scholarship, and service to the University. Houff's teaching excellence has been recognized by her peers, who selected her for the Outstanding Graduate Faculty award in 2010. She has made numerous professional presentations and submitted to many publications. In addition, she has led study abroad programs at the University of Education, Winneba in Ghana. Houff has served on many diverse University committees, including a recent stint as chair of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction. She has made a mark at UMW for her unrelenting optimism and dedication to students.

Constance Smith

Senior Lecturer English, Linguistics, and Communication

Constance Fletcher Smith taught her first Mary Washington English course in 1970. She was a valuable contributor to the evolution of the department as it became the Department of English, Linguistics, and Communication. Her course offerings spanned nearly every literary genre, with emphasis on the teaching of writing, topics related to women's studies, global issues in literature, and most recently international fiction by women. Her classroom practice has always been enhanced by her commitment to teaching not only content, but also compassion. She also has been unwavering in her dedication to creating a welcoming environment on campus for diversity, evidenced by her leadership and participation in campus initiatives related to race, class, gender, and sexuality. Author of numerous published literary reviews, she will be remembered as a model of and inspiration for life-long learning.

David S. Soper

Professor Emeritus of Athletics, Health, and Physical Education

Stan Soper earned both his undergraduate and master's degrees from Frostburg State College. He served as a high school teacher and coach before twice being named runner-up for the position of track and field coach at Mary Washington. In August 1984, he was recruited to take the position. Thirty-one years later, Soper's list of accomplishments and accolades is extensive. He has led the Mary Washington men's and women's cross-country programs to a combined 25 conference titles, and he has been named coach of the year 22 times. Under his belt in men's and women's track and field are a combined 23 conference titles and 21 coach-of-the-year awards. Soper has taken six cross country teams to the NCAA championships, and he has coached 49 All-Americans as well as a national champion. He has served on NCAA Division III cross country/track and field national committees and on UMW committees. While Soper's record of championships and awards is impressive, his most enduring legacy is the number of successful alumni and countless people he has influenced.

RETIRING FACULTY

Gary W. Stanton

Associate Professor Emeritus of Historic Preservation

Gary W. Stanton, who holds a bachelor's degree in anthropology from the University of California and a master's degree and doctoral degree in American folklore from Indiana University, joined the Mary Washington Department of Historic Preservation in 1989, shortly after it was established. In his 25 years at the University, he has served as director of the Center for Historic Preservation, twice as department chair; and on countless University committees. Stanton's knowledge is wide-ranging: beyond folklore, for which he is formally trained, he is also an expert in architectural materials and building systems, architectural history, historic preservation, material culture, GIS, and local history. He possesses encyclopedic knowledge of Fredericksburg, which he freely shares with students, residents, and scholars. Of particular note have been Stanton's efforts at digitizing records such as estate inventories, land tax records, property taxes, and city council minutes for Fredericksburg and the surrounding areas. This herculean task has aided researchers around the world.

ACADEMIC HONORS AND AWARDS

Academic achievement is recognized at commencement through a variety of honors and awards. Other awards were presented at the Eagle Awards Ceremony, April 22. In addition, most academic departments sponsor chapters of honor societies that recognize student achievement in specific disciplines.

ACADEMIC DISTINCTION

The University recognizes the academic achievements of graduating students through the distinctions of summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with highest distinction, and with distinction. Students who have earned at least 60 graded credits in residence may qualify for the first three of these awards with the following grade-point averages:

Summa Cum Laude	3.75 or higher
Magna Cum Laude	3.50-3.74
Cum Laude	3.25-3.49

With highest distinction and with distinction are awarded to graduating seniors who have earned 30 to 59 graded credits in residence with the following grade-point averages:

With Highest Distinction	3.75 or higher
With Distinction	3.30-3.74

UNIVERSITY HONORS

The University Honors program enhances the intellectual growth of highly motivated students by engaging them in rigorous honors-designated coursework, interdisciplinary seminars, extended research and creative projects, and community service. Students graduating with University Honors must maintain at least a 3.2 GPA; complete a set of honors course requirements; participate in co-curricular events, service learning, and leadership; and complete a capstone project or experience.

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

Students may earn graduation with honors in their major subjects. Each department establishes its own requirements for honors projects or theses. All departments require that a student intending to undertake an honors project have a specified minimum grade-point average in the major subject and a minimum grade-point average for all work completed at the University of Mary Washington.

ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world can be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the 11th and 12th centuries, when the first European universities – Bologna, Paris, and Oxford – were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact, the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, so the completion of the apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the 12th century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the 13th century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

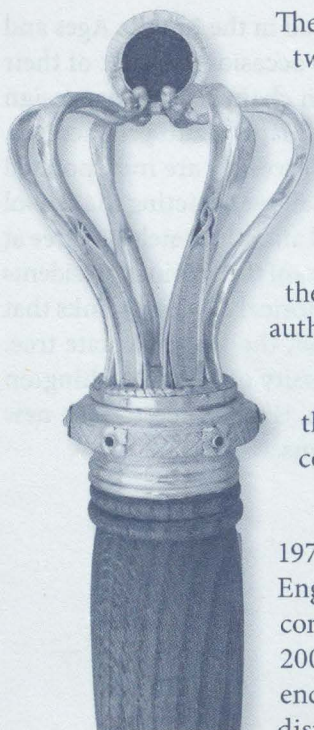

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the 17th century the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, a candidate for a master’s degree had to swear that he owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late 19th century, and in 1895 an academic custom code was adopted that, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor’s gown, with long pointed sleeves; the master’s, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; and the doctoral gown, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the most distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band), and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today’s graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A.), gold (B.S., BLS), or drab (BPS). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the doctoral degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, such as maroon for University of Chicago, scarlet for Rutgers University, crimson and gray for the University of Alabama, and green and gold for Wayne State University.

THE ACADEMIC MACE

The tradition of the academic mace began in the late 14th century, when two ancient instruments, the royal scepter and the battle mace, were combined to form a symbol of the authority of the president or rector of a university. Noblemen carried the battle mace as both a weapon and staff of command, and the sovereign used the regal scepter as a sign of rulership, justice, and authority.

Together with the chain of office, the academic mace indicates that the president of the university is the temporary embodiment of the power, authority, autonomy, and sovereignty vested in the institution represented.

At the University of Mary Washington, the grand marshal carries the academic mace on behalf of the president at academic events such as commencement exercises, inaugurations, and convocations.

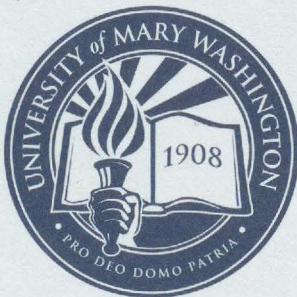

The original University of Mary Washington mace, first used for the May 1970 Commencement, was designed by Asprey and Company of London, England. The sterling mace carried in today's commencement ceremony was commissioned as a special project of the University Centennial Celebration in 2008. It was designed by Suzannah Wagner Merritt of Ashland, Va. The mace encompasses numerous symbols of the University, including lapis stones to display the school color; blossoms of dogwood to honor the Virginia state tree; acorns and oak leaves to recall the historic tree at Brompton, home of the UMW president; and a herringbone motif representing Campus Walk. The six prongs are engraved with the six names of the school prior to its becoming a university in 2004; the prongs are adorned with a lapis disc engraved with the University seal. The handle is emblematic of the original Mary Washington mace.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

In addition to a book and lamp, signifying knowledge, the University seal denotes the year the institution was founded, 1908, and the University motto, Pro Deo Domo Patria, translated from Latin to "For God, home, and country."

PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR

Chains of office, also known as collars, originated in the Middle Ages and are worn today by presidents on ceremonial occasions as part of their regalia. The University of Mary Washington chain is a unique design crafted from gold-plated sterling silver with lapis lazuli gem accents. Symbols important to the history of the University are incorporated in every element of the chain. A large medallion depicting the school seal is flanked by white oak leaves modeled after the stately oak tree at Brompton, home of the president. The names of the previous presidents of this institution alternate with its six historical names on links that are connected with blossoms of dogwood, the Virginia state tree. The chain was unveiled during the University of Mary Washington Commencement in 2006, and, by tradition, is presented to each new president to wear during ceremonial occasions.

THE EAGLE PIPE BAND

As has become tradition, the Eagle Pipe Band will perform at today's commencement ceremony.

The band was formed in 1997 with a small number of Mary Washington students and members of the Fredericksburg community. It has grown steadily each year, adding pipers, drummers, and dancers. The band has been a top contender in pipe band competitions across the East Coast.

The Eagle Pipe Band was founded by Raymond B. Scott, University of Mary Washington professor of chemistry, and is under his direction. The tartan worn by the musicians was designed for the University to match the school colors and is registered in Scotland's official registry of tartans.

Alma Mater

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

When'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
